

INGALLS, BETTMAN ARE VICTORS; MARSHALL CHOSEN FOR CONGRESS

M'CHESNEY, BEAM, BARNETT CHOSEN BY GREENE COUNTIANS

Brown, Taber, Carry County; Democrats Pick Henkel

Greene County voters, at Tuesday's primary election, indicated a decided preference for Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, at the same time favoring Governor George White for renomination on the Democratic ticket.

With only one of the county's forty-eight precincts missing, unofficial returns from forty-seven precincts on the Republican ticket gave Brown an overwhelming plurality over David S. Ingalls, ex-Governor Myers Y. Cooper and James C. B. Beatty.

Brown received 3,206 votes, greater than the combined vote obtained by the three rival candidates. Ingalls and Cooper each claimed 1,211 votes, followed by Beatty with 59.

Complete unofficial tabulation of the Democratic vote in all precincts disclosed Governor White, obtaining 975 votes, ran away from his sole opponent for the Democratic nomination, Galen Starr Ross, who was credited with only 154.

L. T. Marshall, Xenia lawyer and former state senator, indicated to be the Republican nominee for congress from the Seventh District, carried his home county of Greene by approximately 900 votes in defeating two rival candidates. Lacking the vote from the Wilberforce precinct, Marshall received 2,680 votes as compared with 1,738 for E. E. Greiner, Springfield, and 286 for Ray Hennessey, Bellefontaine.

Voters of this county favored Aaron J. Halloran, Clark County, in the contest for the Democratic congressional nomination in this district, giving him 376 votes, an unofficial majority of thirty-seven over his opponent, Gwynn Sanders, Union County, who obtained 339.

An exceptionally heavy Democratic vote, twice the normal size, and a fairly heavy Republican vote was recorded.

Interest was stimulated locally by spirited contests for both the Republican and Democratic nominations for sheriff, Republican nominations for county commissioner and state representative from this county in the Ohio legislature.

From a field of eleven candidates, A. E. Beam, present commissioner, and Walter Barnett, former mayor of Jamestown, emerged winners of the Republican nominations for the two vacancies that will occur on the board through expiration of the terms of Beam and J. Harve Lackey.

Beam led the Republican commission ticket with 1,734 votes, and Barnett was runner-up with 1,551 votes. Defeated commission candidates and the voters they received are: John A. North, 1,197; Joseph B. Conklin, 1,085; Alonzo Peelle, 791; M. A. Ross, 592; William Priest, 533; C. H. Russell, colored, 569; Graham Bryson, 383; Frank R. Hutchinson, 369; and Allen Haines, 285.

Two Democratic candidates for the board won their party's nomination without opposition. They were Paul D. Garringer, Silvercreek Twp., and James H. Hawkins, Fairground Road.

The Republican nomination for state representative from this county was won easily by Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College, victor in a three-cornered race. His unofficial vote total was 2,900. Henry S. Bagley, Osborn, trailed with 841 votes, followed by J. B. Rife, Clinton, with 792. Frank A. Wolf, Xenia dairyman, member of the Xenia Twp. school board, was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Behind the largest vote accorded any candidate on either ticket, Sheriff John Baughn was renominated on the Republican ticket, defeating O. S. Hull, Cincinnati Ave., rival candidate, by 2,564 to 1,015.

The Democratic nomination for sheriff was obtained by George P. Henkel, of the Xenia Linotype Co., winner in the lone five-cornered contest on this party's local ticket. Henkel's vote total was 469. Harry M. Fisher, city commissioner of Xenia, ran second with 283, followed by Raymond C. Ritenour, Cedarville, with 368; William Pickett, Xenia, 121; and Thad Miller, Jamestown, 41.

COLUMBUS, O., May 11.—Just fifty years after the assassination of President James A. Garfield, the Ohio Republican primary ballot contained the name of the late executive and of that of a man whose last name is the same as that of the assassin.

William B. Guiteau was a candidate for the nomination for secretary of state on the same ticket.

REPUBLICANS NAME MAN WITH COLORFUL CAREER CANDIDATE

Ingalls Has Brilliant Record In Business, Law and Flying

COLUMBUS, O., May 11.—David S. Ingalls, who emerged from the primary election today as the choice of Republicans for governor of Ohio, rode to victory on his reputation as an executive and on the strength of brilliant achievements during the World War.

Modest and unobtrusive in manner, the youthful assistant secretary of the navy for aviation has garnered during a spectacular career experience as a soldier, lawyer, banker, businessman and legislator.

The son of a nationally prominent Cleveland family, Ingalls interrupted college studies at the age of 18 to enlist in the United States Naval Reserve Flying Corps in 1917. On his return to America after the armistice he had won the distinction of being the only American naval ace of the World War.

His war record includes sixty-three flights over lines, thirteen combats, twenty-two low bombing raids on aerodromes, one low bombing raid on the mole at LeBrugge, and ten low-bombing raids behind the lines during the allied push. He was credited with five enemy planes and two balloons; was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by the British government and the United States Distinguished Service Medal.

Re-entering college, Ingalls studied law and in 1923 entered the firm of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey, Cleveland, practicing for six years. He served also, as a director of the Cleveland Trust Co., one of the leading financial institutions of Ohio.

In 1926, the gubernatorial nominee was elected to the Ohio legislature, becoming one of its leaders. He was re-elected in 1928 and took part in major legislation.

Ingalls' appointment as assistant secretary of the navy in charge of aeronautics came in 1929. The position entailed supervision of activities of 30,000 men. During his service in this capacity he directed the five-year program of naval aviation, authorized by congress, completing the job in four years with a saving of $2,307,150 from the original estimates.

Ingalls' parents are Albert Ingalls, nationally known railroad executive, and Jane Taft Ingalls, daughter of the late Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, and niece of former President William Howard Taft. He was married in 1922 and is the father of four daughters, Edith, Jane, Louise and Anne.

Harriett Johnson, 5, Dies Wednesday Of Injuries

Burns she received Monday morning at 11 o'clock when her clothing became ignited while playing with matches, resulted fatally for Harriett Johnson, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Johnson, 611½ N. Galloway St., at her home Wednesday morning at 8:55 o'clock.

The child received second degree burns over the right side of her body from her knees to her shoulders. Her face and head were not burned. She had been suffering from whooping cough for several weeks which aggravated her condition and contributed to her death.

Mrs. Libbie Brode, blind woman, who lives at the Johnson home, attracted by the child's screams, smothered the flames with a blanket. Mrs. Brode was burned slightly on the hands.

The little girl was born in Urbana February 9, 1927. The family had lived in Xenia only a short time and Mr. Johnson operates a barber shop here at Main and Mechanic Sts. Besides her parents the child is survived by two brothers, William and Harold, and two sisters, Anna and Thelma, at home.

Funeral services will be held at the home Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and burial will be in Woodland Cemetery.

HELENE COSTELLO, MOVIE ACTRESS, IS GRANTED DIVORCE

Her Cross Complaint Ends Romance With Lowell Sherman

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—Helene Costello, actress, today had a divorce from Lowell Sherman on a cross complaint charging cruelty. A sensational testimony which began trial of Sherman's original suit and which threatened to send the Herman family skeletons chattering through Hollywood, was cut short when Miss Costello was permitted to file her cross complaint.

She spent but five minutes on the witness stand and was given her decree.

"You charge your husband with cruelty in your cross complaint?" Attorney Milton M. Cohen asked her.

"Mr. Sherman continually referred to me as his mental inferior and said constantly that I was not a fit companion for one of his intellectual attainments," Miss Costello replied.

"He also said that he made a great mistake in marrying me. He nagged at me constantly on my housekeeping."

"He found fault with the amount of money I spent and charged that I was extravagant, although I was receiving as much or more salary than he."

"His continuous conduct of nagging and fault finding finally forced me to leave our home. I had a nervous breakdown and was forced to take a long trip for my health."

Judge Thomas Ambrose then granted a divorce on the cross complaint and denied Sherman his decree.

MARSHALL EXPECTS MAJORITY OF 1,000 IN DISTRICT FIGHT

Claims Nomination On Basis Of Unofficial Returns

Victory over two rival candidates in a three-cornered contest for the Republican nomination for congress in the Seventh District was claimed early Wednesday by Attorney L. T. Marshall, Xenia, former state senator, on the basis of what he said were unofficial returns from all but seven of the 469 precincts in the nine counties composing the district.

After a personal canvass of the latest vote totals in the Republican congressional race, made over long-distance telephone with the boards of elections of the nine counties by 7 a. m. Wednesday, Marshall predicted his nomination by a majority not under 1,000 over E. E. Greiner, Springfield business man, his nearest opponent.

Ray Hennessey, Bellefontaine, third entrant in the contest, was third and out of the running.

In a statement Wednesday morning, Marshall declared he had carried eight of the nine counties by majorities over Greiner ranging from 142 to 1,838 votes.

Clark County, his home county, proved the stronghold of Greiner, Marshall admitting that he had lost this county by an unofficial margin of 4,527 votes, an average of twenty-nine votes, a precinct, with only two precincts missing.

On the basis of complete unofficial returns, the Xenian said he had triumphed in Warren County by 1,838 votes, in Fayette County by 224 votes, in Madison County by 412 votes, in Clinton County by 682 votes, in Union County by 256 votes, in Champaign County by 142 votes.

His plurality in his own county of Greene was 941 votes over Greiner, with one precinct not accounted for. His majority in Logan County was 928 votes. The vote was: Marshall, 2,143; Greiner, 1,205; Hennessey, 1,523.

While figures were lacking on the race for the Democratic congressional nomination, the trend of early voting appeared to indicate Aaron J. Halloran, Springfield, as the winner over Gwynn Sanders, Marysville. With reports received from sixty-seven precincts, Halloran was leading his opponent in the district by nearly a two to one majority. The vote was: Halloran, 1,101; and Sanders, 628.

VERDICT THAT HELD UP BEAVER SCHOOL REVERSED BY COURT

Litigation Over New Building Decided For Defense

Dissolution of a temporary injunction under which further construction work on the unfinished $180,000 centralized school building in Beaver Creek Twp., has been held up since last December 12, was authorized by the Court of Appeals Tuesday.

The appellate court, in an approved final order, reversed the decision of Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy in the taxpayer's injunction suit brought by Irven M. Coy against The W. H. Howard Construction Co., Columbus, general contractor.

In the final order, the appeals court judges reaffirmed their former conviction, as expressed in a recent partial decision, that the building, in the manner it is being constructed, is not an unsafe structure in any particular.

The final opinion of the judges was handed down after an examination of reports of the findings of a recent test, ordered by the court, and made by the contractor in the presence of witnesses, to determine the safety factor of the load-bearing walls of the incomplete structure.

The appellate court decision admitted the building is not being erected strictly in compliance with the contract, plans and specifications, in that cinder block and clay tile were substituted for a "good, sound quality of common brick," and that the steel bar joists were not anchored according to the contract. These departures from the plans, however, have not interfered with the building's safety, the ruling held, in effect.

At the same time the final entry was approved, the appellate court overruled a motion of plaintiff's counsel for a new trial.

The new trial motion was based partly upon the claim the court had not ruled upon the question of whether the main corridor wall was constructed according to the plans, and as to its safe or unsafe construction.

Plaintiff's counsel also contended the court had not indicated a decision on the sufficiency or insufficiency of the bar joists or their bearing on the walls as they relate to the joists.

There is reported to be some possibility the case may be appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court, although it was understood from another source that an attempt at a compromise may be made in order that construction work on the building may be resumed without further prolonged delay.

LINER BERENGARIA REPORTED AGROUND

The Cunard line here said it had no knowledge of the reports.

LONDON, May 11.—The liner Berengaria was reported aground today off Black Jack Buoy, in Southampton water.

The liner was reported to have gone aground at half-tide while swinging to enter Southampton water. Six tugs were sent to aid and hoped to refloat her at high tide between 3 and 3:30 p. m.

The Berengaria was inbound to Southampton from New York, whence she sailed on May 4, and was to have docked this morning.

John "Jack" Turner Jr., 58, prominent Sugar Creek Twp. farmer, residing one and one-half miles west of Bellbrook on the Wilmington Pike, committed suicide by shooting himself at his home shortly before noon Wednesday. He was found in the barn by one of his sons. Details of the tragedy were not learned.

Mr. Turner had spent the greater part of his life near Bellbrook. He served on the Sugar Creek Twp. election board Tuesday.

ROOSEVELT CLAIMS NOMINATING VOTES OF WEST VIRGINIA

Hoover Supported; Townsend To Run For Governor

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 11.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York annexed West Virginia's string of sixteen presidential nominating votes today on the basis of partial returns from Tuesday's preferential primary.

Returns from 235 scattered precincts of the state's total 2,234 early today gave the New York governor 18,016 as against 1,872 for Governor William H. Murray, of Oklahoma.

President Hoover was assured of the state's nineteen nominating votes when delegates, favoring his candidacy, received the entire Republican vote. The President himself was not entered in the primary which had no Hoover opposition.

State Tax Commissioner T. C. Townsend polled an overnight plurality in excess of 6,000 over Mont Z. White, president of the state senate, in the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Scattering returns gave Townsend 19,234 and White 13,094.

In the Democratic contest, Judge G. H. Kump was leading State Senator Charles E. Hodges, one of the state's "baby politicians," 7,471 to 5,880. Hodges showed unexpected strength, especially in leading J. Alfred Taylor, speaker of the house of delegates and veteran campaigner, who was in third place.

The only test of prohibition was in the Democratic gubernatorial contest where B. F. Witcheer, Cullough, treasurer of the state board of control, campaigned on a platform of prohibition. He showed strength in urban centers, but trailed his three opponents in the tabulations.

WORKMEN FLEE FACTORY BLAZE

Explosions And Fire Wreck Plant

CANTON, Mass., May 11.—On the site of the old copper-smelting plant of Paul Revere, three chemical explosions and fire imperilled the lives of workers and demolished two units of the Plymouth Rubber Co., Inc., and an adjoining structure today.

Company officials estimated the loss at $100,000. Though approximately 750 persons are employed by the company, only four were in the one-story building housing the reclaiming department, scene of the blasts, and they escaped unaided and unharmed.

Fire resulting from the explosions enveloped that structure and spread to a one-story warehouse nearby. Sparks blown forty feet across the Neponset River fired a two-story wooden building known as the Revere Nail Shot but unused for years.

STATE CANDIDATES PLEDGED TO REPEAL DRY LAW SELECTED

Hoover Wins Ohio's Delegates; White Gets Democrats

COLUMBUS, O., May 11.—Ohio today nominated for two major offices candidates who stand for prohibition repeal.

The Republican nomination for both governor and U. S. senator was thrust by an impressive vote in yesterday's primary upon candidates whose views had aroused the bitter hostility of the Anti-Saloon League and its allied forces.

David S. Ingalls, young, flying assistant secretary of the navy, triumphed easily in the gubernatorial contest over Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown and former Governor Myers Y. Cooper, both of whom were endorsed by prohibition societies. Ingalls' campaign headquarters claimed an ultimate plurality of 30,000 over Brown, his nearest opponent.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, who issued a more ringing appeal for prohibition reform, was carried to an even larger plurality in unofficial returns from nearly two-thirds of the state's precincts. He massed a plurality of 50,000 over Louis Taber national master of the Grange, who was supported by the compined dry forces of the state.

What anti-prohibitionists hail as a sweeping victory was carried into the congressional ranks when each of the two parties apparently nominated two congressmen-at-large who advocate reform.

The leaders for the Republican congressman-at-large nomination were George H. Bender and Thomas J. Herbert, and the Democratic leaders were Stephen M. Young and Charles V. Traux. Bender and Herbert are from Cleveland, Traux is from Bucyrus and Young is from Cleveland. All were listed as unsatisfactory by the state dry organization.

In the only remaining close race, Appellate Judge Carl V. Weygand had forged ahead of F. S. Day for Democratic nomination as chief justice of the supreme court.

The vote in this contest stood—Weygand, 56,916; Day 56,307 and Price 25,857.

President Hoover was conceded to have won the party's slate of fifty-five nominating delegates. The Democratic slate of fifty-two, apparently was just as safe for Governor George White, a "favorite son" candidate.

Alfred E. Smith entered the Democratic contest in five Cleveland districts where a slate of delegates was offered by Peter Witt but the former New York governor drew little support. This was in contrast with his showing in 1928 when he polled a Cleveland majority over President Hoover.

The Democratic delegates are considered likely supporters of Newton D. Baker after courtesy votes are cast for Governor White at the Chicago convention.

In the Republican senatorial contest, the liberal attorney general ran up a lead that may reach 50,000 over his ultra-dry opponent.

DIRIGIBLE AKRON OVERCOMES GALES

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 11.—Victorious in a twenty-four hour battle with Texas gales, the navy dirigible Akron flew swiftly toward Camp Kearney air base today to replenish its fuel supply exhausted by the unexpected struggle.

The Akron had a stormy passage of Texas in its cross-continent flight to Sunnyvale, Cal., to join battle fleet maneuvers. The trip which started at Lakehurst, N. J., Sunday was continued smoothly once El Paso, Texas, was left behind last night.

Speeding along at a sixty-mile an hour pace the dirigible crossed New Mexico and Arizona during the night, then radioed that a stop would be necessary at Camp Kearney near here to take on more fuel.

Former Xenian Takes Bride In Dayton

MR. WILLIAM F. STARK, Dayton, retired railroad official and Civil War veteran, and former Xenian, was married to Miss Elizabeth Welsh, Dayton, his nurse for the past three years, in a quiet ceremony performed in Dayton Monday afternoon. Friends here have learned. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. W. Rowe, pastor of Central Reformed Church, Dayton.

Mr. Stark was born in Xenia April 15, 1843, his family coming here from Virginia. He began his railroad career here being employed on the Little Miami Railroad between Cincinnati and Columbus as a passenger brakeman. From that position he was promoted to baggage master, then to conductor on a work train, then to freight train conductor and finally passenger train conductor. He later was made chief train dispatcher.

Mr. Stark was transferred to Dayton in 1885 and was in charge of the tracks through that city, the Union Station and the Dayton and Union Railroad. He also owned the Union Station Transfer Co., in Dayton but retired from active business life about three years ago.

During the Civil War he was a member of the twelfth regiment, O. V. I., which he joined in Xenia in April, 1861.

Mrs. Stark came to Dayton from Cleveland a number of years ago and has been engaged in public health nursing there.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stark have been residing at the Gibbons Hotel, Dayton, where they will continue to make their home.

STATE CANDIDATES PLEGGED TO REPEAL DRY LAW SELECTED

Louis J. Taber, national master of the Grange. The young and dynamic Ingalls held a superiority of nearly 20,000 votes over Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, his nearest opponent. Former Governor Myers V. Cooper, of Cincinnati, was running a poor third. Both Cooper and Brown are "dry," which swung the balance of power to Ingalls in the split vote.

Ingalls and Bettman pulled an avalanche of city "wet" votes. The rural sections characteristically cut into their majority with the customary prohibition strength.

A large field of entrants for the two nominations for congressman-at-large of each party left the outcome in doubt. Former State Senator George H. Bender, Cleveland, and B. F. Reading, Toledo, were leading the Republican ticket while Stephen M. Young, of Cleveland Heights and Charles V. Truax, Bucyrus, held an advantage over their Democratic opponents. Bender and Young were opposed by the Anti-Saloon League. Reading is a dry. Truax advocates a referendum on prohibition.

U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley, Democrat, was unopposed for re-nomination and Gov. White won easily over a political unknown who polled only the usual anti-administration vote.

Tabulation of returns was the slowest in years because of the bulky ballots. A complete compilation is not expected until late today.

Municipal Judge Frank S. Day, Cleveland, was somewhat in the lead in the race for Democratic nomination for chief justice of the state supreme court. Appellate Judge Carl V. Weygandt, Lakewood, was second and Thomas D. Price, New Lexington, third.

Charles B. Zimmerman, Springfield, and William P. Henderson, Kenton, apparently were safely in the lead for the Democratic nominations as supreme court judges, regular term.

Lee B. Palmer, Pataskala, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, apparently will oppose William B. Pickrel, Democrat, Dayton, incumbent who was unopposed, for lieutenant-governor. Palmer was leading State Senator Walter G. Nickels, New Philadelphia, and George E. Turner, Cleveland.

Herbert S. Duffy, Columbus, appeared to be making it a runaway race for the Democratic nomination for attorney general, against Francis Poulson, Shaker Heights.

Joseph T. Ferguson, Lancaster, was well ahead of John E. Harper, Columbus, former state welfare director, in the Democratic contest for the nomination for state treasurer.

Daniel E. Butler, Toledo, unsuccessful nominee for state auditor on the Democratic ticket in 1920, 1924 and 1928, was leading the field of six candidates for the 1932 nomination, with a plurality of nearly 5,000 votes over his nearest opponent, E. C. Galleher, Akron.

Harry E. McCollister, Columbus, was running third.

George S. Myers, East Cleveland, had a big lead over his two opponents for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state.

County, as their choice for renomination on the Republican ticket as judge of the second district Court of Appeals, giving him a substantial majority over John H. Eagleson, also of Franklin County. The vote was: Allread, 1,708; Eagleson, 1,015.

For the Democratic nomination for appellate court judge, John C. Shea, Montgomery County, received 368 votes, and A. Alvin North, Darke County, was given 278.

Preference was expressed for James E. Ford, Ross County, as the Democratic nominee for the state senate from the fifth-sixth district. He was accorded 445 votes while his opponent, Joseph Vincent, Ross County, obtained 177. N. Floyd Templin, Clinton County, won the Republican nomination without opposition.

Pluralities on the Republican state ticket were given L. J. Taber for United States senate, Rev. R. F. Reading and L. T. Palmer for two congressmen-at-large, George C. Braden for state secretary and L. B. Palmer for lieutenant governor.

On the Democratic state ticket the following candidates were preferred: H. S. Duffy for attorney general, C. V. Truax and Paul F. Dye for congressmen-at-large, G. S. Myers for state secretary, Harry McCollister for state auditor, J. T. Ferguson for state treasurer, Frank S. Day for supreme court chief justice and W. P. Henderson for the full term of supreme court judge.

A number of other Republican and Democratic candidates for county offices were unopposed as far as the primary was concerned and received large complimentary votes.

Positions of Common Pleas Court judge, county clerk (unexpired term), county recorder and coroner each attracted one Republican and one Democratic candidate as follows:

Common Pleas Court judge: R. L. Gowdy, Republican, seeking another term, and George H. Thorne, Bellbrook, Democrat.

County auditor: James J. Curlett, Xenia, Republican, completing an appointive term, and W. T. Naragon, Democrat, mayor of Osborn.

County recorder: LeRoy Wolf, Xenia, incumbent Republican, seeking a second term, and Harry E. Watson, Bellbrook, Democrat.

Clerk of Courts: Harvey Elam, Republican, candidate for re-election, and Wilbur Pitzer, Xenia, Democrat.

Coroner: Dr. R. L. Haines, Jamestown physician, Republican, incumbent, and Dr. E. J. Reynolds, Xenia dentist, Democrat.

Four of the Republican candidates, in quest of new terms, were unopposed for renomination and will also be returned to office without Democratic opposition at the November election. They are: Harold Van Pelt, treasurer; W. J. Davis, surveyor; Probate Judge S. C. Wright, and Prosecuting Attorney Marcus McCollister.

Due to the extremely large ballot and the record number of candidates for local, state, district and congressional offices, tabulation of the unofficial votes of the precincts was probably the slowest in local election history.

Although the polls closed at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, it was not until four hours and fifteen minutes later, at 10:45 o'clock, that the complete unofficial count of the vote in the first precinct was completed.

The first precinct to report a complete tabulation was the thirteenth Xenia city precinct in the fourth ward. The Xenia Twp. north precinct had submitted a partial report at 8:15 p. m., giving only the result of the Democratic vote, however.

In an effort to speed up the tabulation, the election board had instructed precinct officials not to attempt to telephone the vote to the board room, but to bring the poll books to the board's headquarters after the count was finished. A partial count was not permissible.

Only infrequent reports from precincts were received during the first eight hours after the polls closed, and the count was not expedited until the early hours of Wednesday morning.

By 5 a. m. Wednesday forty-seven of the forty-eight county precincts had reported their unofficial totals, leaving only one precinct not heard from.

After going without sleep all night, the board finally delegated two of its members to visit Wilberforce, where the missing precinct was located. The board members, making the trip at 9 a. m., reported that thirty Republican ballots still remained to be counted at Wilberforce, though the Democratic vote tabulation was finished.

It is a good thing, for the sake of sanity of the teams involved, that winners of football games are not decided in advance on the basis of previous comparative scores. Try to figure these facts out: In the National League, the Downtowners beat the Lang Chevrolet, 5 to 4. The Xenia Chick Hatchery defeated the Downtowners, 9 to 0. Langs swamped Coates's Barbers, 12 to 2, and the Barbers downed the Hatchery, 6 to 5. Consequently, comparative scores would indicate the Downtowners are one run better than Langs, eleven runs better than Coates's Barbers, and twelve runs better than the Hatchery, the team which beat them, 9 to 0.

By the same token, Langs are eleven runs better than the Hatchery and twenty runs better than the Downtowners, to whom they lost, 5 to 4.

By virtue of a one-run victory over the Hatchery, the Barbers should be rated ten runs superior to the Downtowners. However, Coates's team lost to Langs by ten runs, making them eleven runs worse than the Downtowners.

It develops that we have credited Coates's Barbers with one too many errors. Our attention had been called to alleged misspelling of the name of the team's sponsor on the sweaters worn by the players, specifically that the apostrophe was in the wrong place. Harve rises to protest that the letter 's' is correct and that his last name is actually "Coate." There is no "s" on the end of it, though the name is familiarly known as "Coates." It is an old Quaker name, Harve says, and the apostrophe is correctly inserted between the "e" and "s".

When Gardner Gearhart was inserted into the lineup of Coates's Barbers in the middle of the game with the Hatchery the other night, he took a familiar position. He once was a catcher in baseball, and when he began playing football this season, the Barbers had him playing positions to which he was unaccustomed—first in short field, then at shortstop. He was perfectly at home, however, behind the plate, and other catchers might learn something by watching him block down throws to the plate.

Mickey McPadden is going vacationing soon, he says, to Florida, where he hopes to renew an acquaintance with a boxer named Gonzales, whom he once met in the squared circle, much to the detriment of Mickey.

Thirteen Hits, Thirteen Errors - Defeat

EX-HIGHS CAPTURE ERROR CONTEST BUT LOSE BALL CONTEST

Guardsmen, Slightly Better, Profit By Miscues - 12-11

Surpassing the existing local record, the Ex-Highs perpetrated thirteen errors as they lost to the still unbeaten Company L, National Guard football team in an American League game at Cox Field, Tuesday night.

The thirteen-error total proved unlucky because league leaders closed with a rush in the last three innings, and squeezed out a 12 to 11 victory for their second triumph this season.

The Guardsmen did their best to match the Ex-Highs, misplay for misplay, but could not quite make the grade and fell four errors shy of the losing team's total, making nine miscues.

Between them, the two teams committed twenty-two fumbles and these played a prominent part in the scoring of runs.

Harris Lane, only southpaw pitcher in local captivity, was extremely wild, but what he lacked in control, he more than compensated for in general effectiveness, allowing only seven hits. He was generous with passes, giving five bases on balls, but he also struck out six batters.

"Larry" Hornick also fanned six batters for the Ex-Highs and did not walk a player, but he released thirteen hits—the old unlucky number again—and the thirteen errors did not help the team's cause.

Company L scored two runs in each of the first two innings and sported a 4 to 1 advantage after two rounds of play. Hornick blanked the militia without a hit in the next three chukkers. Meanwhile, the Ex-Highs tallied three runs in the third and another in the fourth to go ahead, 5 to 4.

The Ex-Highs produced another run in the first half of the sixth, but in the last half of the round Company L uncorked a magnificent six-run rally featured by six hits, including a homer by Ken Finlay with a runner on base, intermingled with four opposition errors.

In rebuttal, the Ex-Highs countered with four runs on their own behalf in the first and seventh innings with the aid of two singles, four errors and a walk, thereby evening the score at 10 to 10.

Finlay's double and South's single gave Company L a run in the tie of the seventh, shattering the tie. After the Ex-Highs went scoreless in the eighth, the National Guard team added its 12th run in the last of the eighth after two were out on successive singles by Michael, Herr and Finlay.

This proved to be the winning counter, for one run on two straight passes and on out at first was the best the Ex-Highs could muster in the ninth, leaving them still one marker behind.

Kenneth Finlay, second baseman for the winners, punched out four safe hits, one a homer and another a double, in five times up, and personally scored three runs.

Michael and South each contributed a pair of singles for Company L. Joe Fletcher, Ex-High shortstop, though he had an off day in the field, was the only member of his team to hit into safe territory more than once. He contrived to get two singles, besides drawing a walk, and scored three runs.

Spring Valley, beaten in its first two starts, and the Downtowner Country Club will have it out in a National League contest Wednesday night.

TIGHT PITCHING IS SEEN AS NUMEROUS SHUTOUTS REVEAL

Vic Sorrell Nearly Enters Hall Of Fame Tuesday

NEW YORK, May 11.—Major league hurlers have chalked up nearly twice as many shutouts as were recorded at this time last year, 26, against 14 on May 11 of 1931.

This tight pitching seems to be divided evenly between the two leagues as the National and American each have thirteen shutouts to their credit.

The Washington Senators and St. Louis Browns are tied for blanking honors with four each, giving them the lead for both leagues. Detroit has two and Boston's Red Sox, the Yankees and Athletics one each.

In the National League, honors are spread out more evenly. Two each have been recorded by Cincinnati, Brooklyn, the Phillies, Pittsburgh and the Cardinals, while the Giants, Braves and Cubs have one each.

Sam Gray of the Senators leads the American division with two shutouts, and Steve Swetonic of the Pirates heads the National circuit with a similar number.

Vic Sorrell's two-hit pitching for Detroit against the Boston Red Sox was the most notable performance yesterday. His mound work enabled the Tigers to whitewash the Sox, 11 to 0. He might have scored a no-hit game were it not for Alah Rhyne's two scratch singles in the third and sixth. Four Boston hurlers opposed him.

Lefty Grove held the Chicago White Sox to six hits, while the Philadelphia Athletics pounded out a 9-to-0 victory. Dykes scored four in four Philadelphia runs with a double and a homer. Jimmy Fox connected for a double and a pair of singles.

In the National League Ray Benge limited Cincinnati to five hits while the Phillies blanked the Reds, 4 to 0. This victory advanced Philadelphia to third place, dropping Cincinnati to fourth.

Louie Warneke, of the Chicago Cubs' mound, yielded only five hits to the New York Giants, who were beaten 9 to 2. The Cubs scored two runs in the second and drove Gibson from the mound in the fifth with a five-run rally. Schmacker and Bell followed Gibson for New York.

Boston at Pittsburgh was washed out and Brooklyn at St. Louis was frozen out.

In the other American League game, Lefty Gomez scored his fourth victory of the season, holding the St. Louis Browns to seven hits, while his Yankee team won 19 to 2. New York tallied six runs in the seventh.

Cleveland at Washington was postponed by rain.

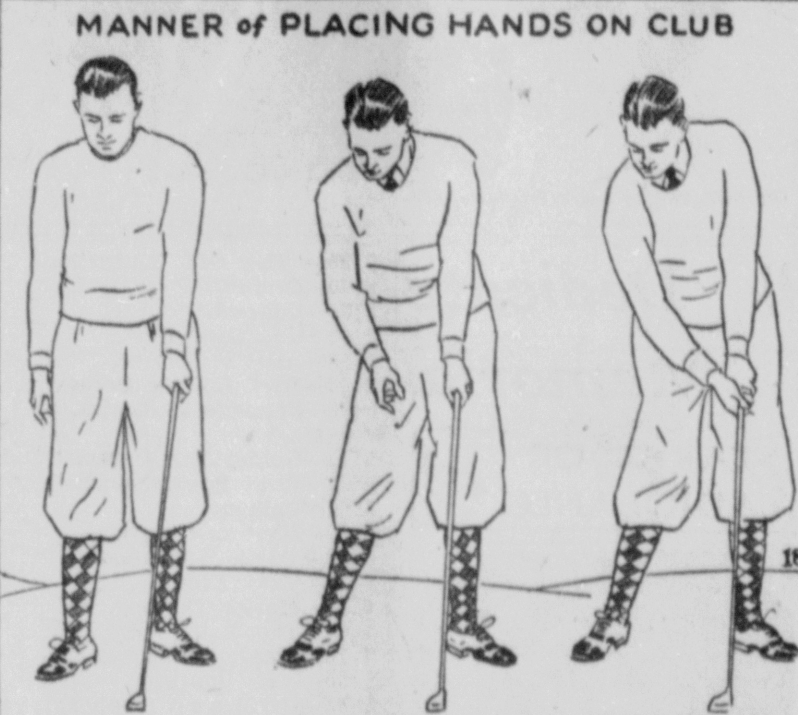

MOTHER HONORED BY ROTARIANS

MRS. ELLA LORIMER, 841 N. King St., was honored as one of the outstanding mothers of Greene County by the Xenia Rotary Club at a luncheon meeting in its room in the Donges Bldg., S. Detroit St., Tuesday noon.

Each year the club honors a mother in the county and Mrs. Agnes M. Hurley, Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson and Mrs. Harriett Kelble who have received the honor in other years, were also guests of the club Tuesday.

Dr. H. B. McElree delivered an address on "Motherhood" and Prof. O. K. Probasco, of the O. S. and S. O. Home, introduced Mrs. Lorimer. Each of the mothers was presented a bouquet of roses by the club, the presentation being made by Henry W. Walsh. A short musical program was presented by Miss Eleanor McDonnell, soprano, accompanied by her sister, Miss Mary McDonnell.

AVOID FATAL CROUCHING AND MORRISON EXPLAINS METHOD

Editor's Note: This is No. 18 of a series of golf lessons by Alex Morrison, golf's star teacher. Watch for the next.

By ALEX J. MORRISON
Golf's Foremost Technician
Written Exclusively for Central Press and The Gazette

"Stand up! Stand more erect!" This advice, though of great value to every golfer, seems to carry little weight with the average player and the very player whose swing is absolutely ruined by unnatural body position is always the last one to heed it.

The three main reasons for this are:

- 1—The player has yet to learn that crouching over his ball handicaps his swing.
- 2—He is not convinced that he is bending over too much.
- 3—He fails to straighten up simply because he doesn't know how to maintain an erect position over the ball.

Obviously the arms and legs cannot move properly unless the body is in a natural position. This naturalness is directly in proportion to the erectness of the body therefore an erect posture is the very first thing to establish.

When I find a pupil who is reluctant to assume an erect position I ask him, "Why don't you stand up more?" Generally the reply will be: "I thought I was standing up enough" or "I'm afraid that if I stand up any straighter I'll miss the ball entirely."

Now, here—in three easily remembered moves—is how you can attain a comparatively erect position and at the same time keep your back and leg muscles free to move in harmony with the rest of your swing:

- 1—Stand fully erect and place your left hand on the club.
- 2—Tilt your hips over toward the left and relax the entire right side of your body.
- 3—Without altering the position of your left arm or the club, bring your right hand over toward the left and place it on the club.

Next—The Art of Relaxation.

URGES REFERENDUM BEFORE MEETING

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 11.—Colonel Joseph J. Shy, attorney, of Chillicothe, Missouri, plans to carry a proposed resolution urging a nationwide referendum on prohibition to the convention floor of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, meeting here.

For two days, Shy has held up proceedings of a subcommittee charged with making a report on such a referendum. The Missouri lawyer has urged the adoption of this resolution:

"Methodist reaffirms its faith in the wisdom of the people that gave us the 18th amendment and consents to a resubmission of it to the people in accordance with constitutional provisions and is ready to meet the issue."

XENIA AND GREENE COUNTY OBITUARY, FUNERAL NOTICES

CLYDE BADAL
Funeral services for Clyde Badal, 18, pupil at the O. S. and S. O. Home, who died Tuesday morning, were held at the Home chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The remains were shipped to Cleveland late Wednesday afternoon and burial will be made there. The youth was a native of Persia.

CHICKENS STOLEN

Loren Whittington, Hoop Road, reported to the sheriff's office Wednesday that he was robbed of 149 young chickens, of mixed varieties, only three weeks old, sometime between 10:30 p. m. Tuesday and 5:30 a. m. Wednesday. The fowl stolen included 129 White Rocks and twenty Plymouth Rocks. L. A. Davis, county road patrolman, investigated.

BUDDY IN DEBUT

BUDDY BLAIR, aged 6, hasn't got that red hair for nothing.

Buddy appeared at the Gazette office Tuesday night while the news staff was tabulating election returns preparatory to announcing results.

He was armed with a jug—one of the musical kind that are gaining in popularity now and insisted that he was an expert at performing on this odd instrument.

Buddy was not embarrassed about showing his talents on "the air" either, so he promptly signed for a "broadcast" over the Gazette's public address system. Buddy volunteered to play "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain" which listeners may or may not have recognized. Buddy is the son of Fred Blair, who is also an expert on the jug.

SAYS WHEAT PRICES DUE TO RISE SOON

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Chairman Stone of the federal farm board believes wheat prices ought to rise at least ten cents on the basis of the new government estimate of a winter wheat harvest of only 447,881,000 bushels, compared with 787,465,000 bushels last year. But whether the price does go up, depends on the speculators, Stone told the United Press.

"Speculators were responsible for the recent drop which followed the April rise," he said, "and I won't predict what they will do now. The price of wheat should go up, but I'm not predicting that it will; and if it does, I'm not predicting how long the speculators will allow it to stay up."

The agriculture department's new estimate of this year's harvest was based on conditions as of May 1. It was 18,000,000 bushels less than the estimate based on April 1 conditions.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 11.—Despite strength in the grain market, stocks today were unable to maintain their initial gains of a fraction to several points.

Prices held substantial gains through the first hour of trading but considerable irregularity broke out toward noon coincident with active selling operations in a few individual shares which caused many traders to realize on purchases made last week.

XENIA STUDENT IN MOCK CONVENTION

Minor Monroe, 234 E. Market St., this city, is one of the students who will take part in a Democratic mock convention at Oberlin College Friday and Saturday this week. Monroe, a sophomore at Oberlin this year, will be a member of the delegation from Utah.

The mock convention, the seventeenth to be held since the tradition was started in 1864, is Democratic this year for the first time. About 1,200 students will take part. Songs, rallies, costumes, bands and an elaborate pre-convention parade will provide traditionally festive atmosphere. A tent with a seating capacity of 2,500, pitched on the campus, is to be the scene of the two nights' proceedings.

MEANS IS GRANTED REDUCTION IN BOND

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Gaston B. Means was successful today in obtaining a reduction in the $100,000 bond set when he was arrested on charges of embezzling $104,000 from Mrs. Edward B. McLean.

Justice James M. Proctor announced that a $50,000 bond would be sufficient. The move for the lowered bond was begun yesterday after two indictments had been returned against the former justice department investigator.

VON STERNBERG TO RETURN TO STUDIO

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—Paramount studios, Josef Von Sternberg, director and Marlene Dietrich, actress, were ready to proceed with production of "The Blonde Venus" today after several weeks of dispute and publicity.

Von Sternberg and Miss Dietrich
The director refused to proceed on the ground that the story would not make an acceptable picture.
The actress upheld her director.

Today Von Sternberg announced he had changed his mind because it "would not be fair" to Miss Dietrich, or to the motion picture public, to keep her off the screen while the battle continued.

THE Sacred Eye BRUCE E. GRIGGS
A Story of Mystery and Love in The South Seas

READ THIS FIRST:
Five young people from Chicago,
Ione Adams, Tom Barry, Pilly
Lightner, Larry Olcott and Jay Bruce, who tell the story, find themselves about to land at Pa-pete Tahiti, in the South Seas, as the story opens. Ione, Larry and Bruce have been employed on a newspaper, Tom is a radio continuity writer, and Pilly a co-ed. As they are about to leave the ship
Larry calls their attention to a Miss Whitney, a mysterious girl and fellow passenger. He attempts to speak with her, but is snubbed.
The idea of a trip to the South Seas had originated when Ione, Larry, Jay and Tom were working in Chicago. Jay, whose hobby was collecting old books, picked up on old ship's log in a book store for 50 cts.
The log related the story of a voyage to the South Seas undertaken by one Captain Whitney in 1834.
The voyage was for the purpose of trading for pearls. On his way out of the store Jay almost collides with a girl, who is startled on seeing him in possession of the book. Picking up Tom, Jay joins Ione and Larry and the four discuss the book. They discover that much of it is in code. That night Jay and Larry, on arriving at their hotel, find a note that a Miss Whitney has called, and will call again later.
That evening Miss Whitney puts in an appearance and Jay recognizes her as the girl he had seen outside the book store. She arrives at the point quickly, telling them she is a book collector and wants to buy the ship's log, offering as much as $100 for it. Jay is tempted to sell it, but Larry gives him a warning shake of the head. Miss Whitney leaves rather put out at Larry's interference. The next day a big bank fails, and the two work hard and late. They are unable to tell the others of Miss Whitney's visit. Gathering at a rendezvous on the following day, and facing a further cut in their salaries, Larry and Jay decide to take a trip to the South Seas. Joined by Tom and Pilly, they plan the trip, and depart off to the country clerk's where Jay and Ione, and Tom and Pilly secure marriage licenses.
They marry and the five start on the trip.
(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 6

Players Should Heed - Have All They Need

Approach of summer and the unemployment situation has forced motion picture studios to issue their annual warning to would-be screen players who think they can go to Hollywood, break into the movies and live in luxury.

"Don't come to Hollywood seeking motion picture work unless you have stage training, definite screen personality and money to carry you for at least a year."

That's the warning voiced by B. P. Schulberg, Paramount managing director of production and it should be heeded.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS

Mervyn LeRoy, director, believes "Two Seconds," starring Edward G. Robinson, is the most unusual picture he has directed. "I've never seen anything to surpass Robinson's dramatic power during certain scenes of the picture," he says. The story is about an imaginative, misunderstood steel worker who kills his wife and is sent to the electric chair.

Little Mickey Mouse will join Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin, Gloria Swanson, Ronald Colman and others as a star for United Artists July 15. Walt Disney, Mickey's creator, has signed a contract with that studio. Heretofore Columbia has distributed his work.

Eight feature pictures to be produced by Charles R. Rogers will be released through Paramount-Publix Corp. Rogers heads a new independent enterprise which will release "Madison Square Garden" first.

Fairbanks, home from Papeete, was given a warm reception at United Artists studio. After four days of close-ups his picture, "Robinson Crusoe of the South Seas" will be completed. It will be released in September.

Twenty Years '12-Ago-'32

discourage young hopefuls who plan to scrape together enough money for car fare, confident the future will take care of itself. "Disillusionment and heartbreak are apt to be the sole rewards for those whose only qualifications for film work are good looks and ambition," says Schulberg. Those qualities may have counted a few years ago, but today the demands are far greater. Talking pictures have placed a greater burden on actors and actresses. There's no room in Hollywood today for the novice."

Quieting rumors that he would abandon the screen for the Broadway stage, Ernst Lubitsch has returned to Hollywood and will resume his direction of Maurice Chevalier and other stars in pictures. Lubitsch made his debut as a recognized leader in the industry in 1915 when he started filmmaking with "Passion," the film that

As an economy measure, city council slashed the city's payroll by cutting the police department down to the chief and two men, and the fire department to the chief and three regular men.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, opposing President Taft for the nomination for President, is scheduled to speak in Xenia next Wednesday, five days before Taft speaks here.

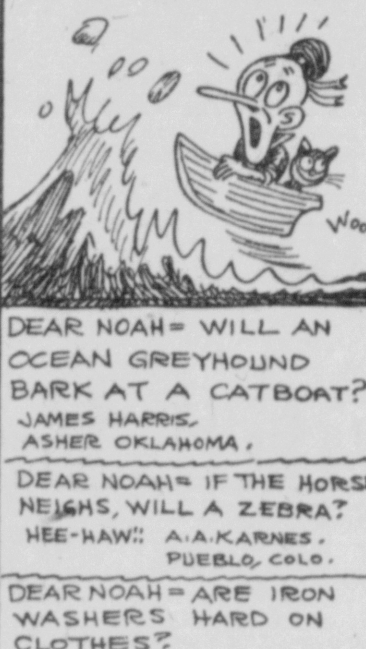

Prof. D. H. Barnes was re-employed as superintendent of schools of New Jasper and Spring Valley Twp. for two more years.

The trustees of the Methodist Church at Jamestown will have the edifice remodeled.

FIRST PRESIDENT WAS REALLY FIRST PRESIDENT IS SAID

WASHINGTON, May 11.—In between disarmament conferences and foreign debt talk, not to mention Shanghai situations, the state department has found time to decide who was the first President of the United States.

It was George Washington, the department announces.

The decision was reached by David Hunter Miller, historical adviser of the department, and came about this way.

For some reason, not entirely clear but possibly having to do with the Washington Bi-Centennial many persons have been writing the department asking who was the first President. Some thought it was John Hanson, others Thomas McKean. They thought that while Washington might have been the first actually to take charge and run the government, one of those two men might have been entitled legally to the position.

Miller went into the subject and has produced a form letter to be used in replying to such questions. It explains that Hanson and McKean each held the office of confederation. But neither held it legally or otherwise under the constitution.

When the constitution went into effect, Washington took the job and held it. So that's all cleared up.

Warren Delano Robbins, chief of the division of protocol and arbiter of social usage at the White House and the state department, also is something of an arbiter of fashion. If Robbins wears something, then it's the correct thing to wear.

So it is a matter of importance that he wore to a late afternoon function last week a double-breasted white waistcoat with his grey flannel trousers, an attire new to Washington. The occasion was a "Leap Year Dancing Sherry Party" given at the Spanish embassy. The sherry was said to have been particularly fine.

Speaking of economy, Congressmen are overlooking no bet. The Congressional Record for May 3, for instance, saved each congressman the price of a popular five cent magazine by reprinting an article of the magazine published by Isaac F. Marcossion. It cost $125 to print the article in the Record. A copy of the magazine for each member of congress could have been purchased for $21.75.

Of course, in the magazine the congressman would have found a lot of other reading matter. He got that in the Record too, however.

One finds therein such important things as the speech of Congressman Nelson on presentation of a bust of George Washington to the state of Wisconsin; the reply to Governor Philip LaFollette; a speech of Congressman Sol Bloom at the tomb of Washington; and numerous other items.

The Washington speeches cost $200 to publish in the Record. But congressmen, of course, simply must hear about the Father of their country.

Good Gardening

ROSES AS HUMAN BEINGS
By Dean Halliday
Garden Expert for Central Press and The Gazette

Rose plants can be compared to the human system. The foliage is the breathing apparatus. Roots feed the plant, but the foliage nourishes it.

In rose growing there is a choice between quality and quantity. For fine specimen blooms, prune a bush back two-thirds of a year's growth, and then cut it a little more for good measure. When planting roses give the roots a bob, too, because the heavy ones only anchor the plant and do not feed it. When you cut the big roots, the fibrous or feeding roots sprout heavily.

Plant the notch of a rose bush level with the soil, and then cover the plant with soil for two or three weeks. The roots won't feed the plant during that time, and the soil helps the plant conserve its store of moisture.

The wood of rambler roses is annual, therefore prune them after blooming. The old canes of a rambler rose might live for two or three years, but only as "star boards" and subject to disease. The large blooming climbers, such as Dr. Van Fleet, should not be pruned unless they are growing out of bounds. Then cut only the new wood.
